FIRST STOP – DUBAI; THEN RUSSIA & SCANDINAVIA

Braemore's sales team are off on another adventure and this time it's global. With an increasing number of their clients buying off-plan and from a distance – think Vietnam and Australia – the company is focusing its immediate sales efforts for 2008 in Dubai; followed by Russia and Scandinavia.

Mackenzie Macmillan, a major property investment consortium based in Dubai, Singapore and the UK, has been appointed to lead the charge, having secured exclusivity (until March 08) on Braemore's multi-award winning residential projects on the Bodrum Peninsula in Turkey. The company is due to showcase Braemore at an exclusive four day interactive event at the Fairmount Hotel in Dubai later this month.

Mark Antscherl, Joint Founding Director of Mackenzie Macmillan, says, "braemoregemiini's award winning luxury properties offer a unique opportunity to combine owning a beautiful holiday home in Turkey and an attractive hassle free investment vehicle for our clients. We are working with Braemore as their chosen sales agent in Dubai and we anticipate a good appetite for their properties through our customer database and local events being held throughout January 2008."

Stuart Leslie, Sales Director for Braemore says, "We are extremely fortunate to be working with Mackenzie Macmillan. They have a solid track record and uncomplicated approach to dealing with their clients and have proven confident in their knowledge of the Dubai market - which Braemore has been looking into as a viable alternative to the UK for some time. Aegean Hills in Turkey has already attracted a number of Dubai residents who have said that the Bodrum Peninsula offers a welcome break from the sky-high summer temperatures in Dubai."
