

Awards 2007

with smartnewhomes.com

smartnewhomes.com

BOSCH

Invented for life

Instant Access PROPERTIES

Roca

DAVIES ARNOLD COOPER

Vogue
Group

Lambert Smith
Hampton

sequence

THE WHAT HOUSE? AWARDS 2007

BEST SMALL HOUSEBUILDER

BOSCH

Invented for life

BRONZE – BRAEMORE GROUP

Braemore is making an impressive impact in the City of Nottingham – be it fresh, contemporary apartments or classy, sensitive refurbishment of period buildings. The new invariably enhances the character of its surrounding area and meets urban housing needs, while Braemore's regeneration work is of a consistently high standard.

Braemore over the years has converted Grade II-listed Georgian and Victorian houses into stylish and indeed award-winning apartments. A current project is The Manor in Beeston, Nottingham, which is an example of Braemore's breadth of operation and design skills.

The development combines a mix of apartment blocks with the refurbishment of Victorian school buildings. It sits very well in its site, which is a Conservation Area. The new apartments are as visually appealing as they are innovative, while Braemore worked closely with English Heritage before restoring the old school houses.

A commercial success? Well, The Manor apparently sold out in two days. This developer has struck out far beyond the East Midlands, now building villas and apartments in Turkey, homes and a hotel and spa on the island of Kefalonia in Greece and serviced apartments on the Croatian island of Sipan.

